From the Principal's Desk

Dear Reader,

The month of November opens with its arrival a plethora of activities. Especially, this November proved to be a complete mixture of fun and work.

The mid of the month was full of two big festivals – Diwali and Chhath. Vacations gave each of us an opportunity to regale in religious flavour as well as enjoy and relish ourselves with our loved ones. Festivals shoo away the monotony from our life and fill it with variegated hues of culture and entertainment.

The moment, the festivals said us good bye, the exams were there, knocking at our doors. It was the time to get down to work – serious work. Conducting the tests, examining the answer sheets, and simultaneously preparing for the result absorbed us through and through. After all, doesn't this month teach us how to strike a balance between fun and work? The key to success in any endeavour lies in managing both work and recreation. One who knows how to do this registers an advantage in his favour.

And this spirit of celebration which begins with these festivals seeps into our academics too and bursts out as a cascade of joy in the form of 'Winterature'. Students, alongside the studies, get indulged in different communication related contests from debates and elocution to poetry writing. The flow of creativity touches the pinnacle during this programme. Everywhere there is a rush of high spirit and enthusiasm. This year's winterature was no exception which saw students across grades participating and proving themselves in various literary contests.

Thus it is interesting to wade through this month with so much on our plate. We fall, we get up, we win and we learn. Hope the next month has far more exciting opportunities in store for us. Let us wait, watch and remain active.

Wish you a happy reading till then...

Yours truly,

Reshma Singh

State Educational Achievement Survey (SEAS) - PARAKH

The state government through a programme called PARAKH is trying to gather information about schools in the state, their educational background and the status of teaching activities.

In the same line, the PARAKH team visited our school too, met the students of various classes, gave them questionnaires to fill and expressed happiness and satisfaction at the state of affairs here. Children also enjoyed the conversation with the PARAKH team and confidently responded to their queries. A few glimpses...

"Education is the key to unlocking the world, a passport to freedom."

Hindi Handwriting Competition

Art and education can't be separated from one another as they complement each other. Art opens the doors of creativity in a person's mind. Seeing this, even the Government of India has integrated art with education in its New Education Policy. Trying to develop a beautiful handwriting is one such practice which helps a child be presentable on paper, at the same time assists him to express their artistic side. To assert this further, the school organized a handwriting competition among the students. They participated with a lot of enthusiasm and it was like pearls had been woven on paper.

"Languages are a representation of our thoughts."

HAPPY TIMES, Basketball Times ...

Students love sports and keep waiting for an opportunity to participate in any of them that comes their way. It absorbs them both physically and mentally. It teaches them team-spirit and leadership skills.

The school, in November, organized an intra-basketball tournament which saw different houses competing against one another. The students invested all their stamina and energy in helping their teams win. The final match had the entire 9 and 10 as spectators on the school basketball ground itself. A few visual memories

AKSHIT JHA - 11 DELTA, ADITYA PANDEY - 10 OMICRON

"One man practising sportsmanship is far better than 50 preaching it."

"Champions keep playing until they get it right."

WINTERATURE FEST 2023 - 24

Winterature

Winter stands for happy time, the time to rejoice when the nature also seems to promote health and creativity. Such exhilarating times do demand celebrations. And it comes in the form of 'Winterature' in OMK. Speeches, elocutions, poetry recitations, and much more are there to enthrall the audience. The enthusiasm of the students to organize and participate it touches the sky.

This year too, it was a joy to watch the young geniuses of the school walking towards the stage to overwhelm the audience with their gift of the gab and other creative talents. Here are a few glimpses through the visual memories...

Let's Welcome Diwali - the Festival of Light

When there is light within, no darkness can take the joy inherent in our being away from us. To remind this truth to all, Diwali comes every year illuminating our homes and hearts, portraying Rama who bravely faced all odds of life, vanquished every challenge on his way and returned to Ayodhya with his wife, victorious and revered. The students of the OMK delineated this truth with astute conscience in the special assembly on the day of Diwali. It was a performance worth watching. A few glimpses...

" Diwali celebrating with diyas, lighting up in heart too, for inner illumination!"

ALIYA PERWEEN

"Light up the lamps of joy and let there be smiles."

Test of Talent and Tenacity

With the Post-Midterm getting over, the exams silently made their way into the academic routine. Slightly anxious but confident faces of the students increased the hustle and bustle of the concerned week. It was worthy culmination of a sustained venture which had filled the days of both the teachers and the taught. The purpose of this mammoth activity was not to test how much the students knew but how well they could cope up with the calculated pressure and how well they could face such tests in life. The lethargy which had set in with the vacations evaporated with the exam related activities.

"Sometimes the hurdles aren't really hurdles at all. They are welcome challenges, tests."
