

NEWS LETTER

MARCH 2025

EDULETICS INTERNATIONAL A BRITISH SCHOOL

Message from Principal

Dear Readers

The elation that follows the fruition of a truly meaningful year is unlike any other. The academic year 2024–25 has engraved upon our hearts a constellation of moments—each radiating growth, wonder, and shared spirit. To allow this luminous chapter to drift by without an earnest expression of thankfulness would dull the very brilliance of all we've embraced together. With heartfelt reverence, we thank the unflinching families who entrusted us with their children—their dreams, their essence, their unspoken hopes. As we now traverse into the second chapter of this unfolding odyssey, guided by the familiar warmth of returning families and the fresh grace of new ones, we stand eager—ready to uncover the quiet marvels the coming days are waiting to unveil.

In a world that constantly evolves, where challenges shape character and courage defines success, we take tremendous pride in announcing the theme for the academic session 2025–26: Absolute Confidence. More than just a phrase, it is a philosophy—a firm promise to nurture within our Edulites an unshakable belief in themselves. Whether in the realm of academics, articulation, athletics, or artistry, our vision is to embolden every learner to rise with clarity, move with conviction, and persevere with quiet strength. We envision a year where no fear eclipses potential and no obstacle impedes growth. With hearts anchored in purpose and minds sculpted by resilience, our students will be equipped not just to succeed, but to thrive—undaunted, unbroken, and unstoppable.

The passing days of April have quietly led us to a significant milestone—the verge of the Pre-Mid Term examinations. What began as a fresh academic chapter on the 1st of April has swiftly unfolded into a month of purposeful learning, thoughtful planning, and meaningful progress.

At the dawn of this academic year, we embraced a quiet yet impactful change—we introduced Weekly Worksheets as a way to weave reflection into routine. More than a tool for revision, each sheet became a gentle nudge from us toward deeper thinking, helping our students engage with their lessons in a thoughtful, consistent manner. To complement this, we thoughtfully designed Enrichment Sheets—like a beam of clarity cutting through complexity—offering crisp, focused content that simplifies learning without diluting depth.

As we come to a gentle close, our hearts are full—with gratitude, with pride and with hope. We extend our deepest thanks to the pillars of this journey: our devoted teachers, sincere students, ever-supportive management, selfless ground staff and the loving presence of our parents. You are the quiet strength behind every small success and every meaningful step forward.

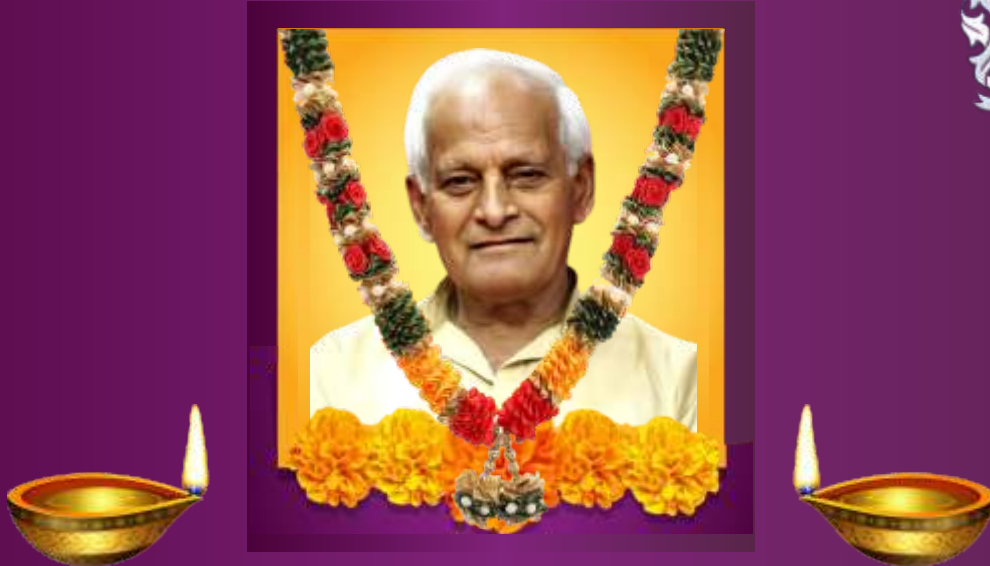

In our students, we strive to plant seeds of truth, perseverance and kindness—believing that what we nurture today will bloom in the world they create tomorrow. Let us remain rooted in who we are, for it is only through staying true that we pass on something lasting.

With humility and warmth, we offer our heartfelt gratitude to each one of you—for being the light that gently guides us all.

Wishing you a truly enriching and enjoyable reading journey!

Timeless Tribute

LATE RAM LAYAK SINGH

06 DECEMBER 1939 - 10 APRIL 2024

In the April 2024, marked the inception of a pivotal chapter as we ushered inaugural chapter of our academic persuit. Yet, that very month, we suffered an irreplaceable loss—the passing of our esteemed patron, Late Ram Layak Singh, whose benevolent blessings had illuminated our course thus far. The inescapable truth is that death arrives unbidden, leaving a profound void in the hearts of those who held him dear. On the occasion of his first death anniversary, we gathered in solemn reverence, offering heartfelt prayers for his eternal repose. Though his physical presence has departed, his legacy remains etched in the innumerable, treasured memories he bestowed upon us—each serving as a steady anchor through this difficult transition. May his guiding spirit continue to fortify our resolve, inspire our pursuits, and grant blessings upon the work we strive to carry forward in his honour.

PARENT ORIENTATION

Thinking that parents are disengaged from their children's educational journey would be a grave outlook. In the whirlwind of modern life, carving out moments for meaningful involvement is undeniably demanding. Yet, amidst life's unrelenting pace, every parent continues to hold their child as life's most priceless gem—and in choosing to show up, even against all odds, they unlock a joy and fulfillment that words can scarcely capture.

Building Confidence
through actions

8Delta

Self-belief begins
where fear ends —
and support
begins.

Many of us often hesitate when faced with the prospect of standing before a crowd. Despite possessing remarkable talents, countless individuals struggle to showcase them. If this hesitation persists, can we ever truly live life to its fullest? Will confidence ever find its way to us? Perhaps not on its own—but it can be nurtured by the encouragement of those around us.

The students of Grade 8 Delta brought this powerful message to life through their presentation, illustrating how the staunch support of friends and the guidance of teachers play a seminal role in cultivating self-belief—unlocking the quiet gateway through which confidence quietly enters our lives.

Believe in Your Potential: You Can Achieve Anything!

One spark of self-belief can light
a thousand dreams.

7
Delta

Deep within each of us lies the immense potential to achieve greatness. This powerful message was vividly conveyed by the students of Grade 7 Delta during their assembly themed "Believe in Your Potential: You Can Achieve Anything!" It was truly an inspiring sight to witness—students, with minimal rehearsal, stepping onto the stage with confidence and self-belief. Their sincere narration and determined presence left a lasting impact, proving that when we trust in our abilities, we unlatch doors to endless possibilities.

Honoring the architect of justice and equality!

Be the change you want to see in society — with knowledge and courage.

7 Omega

On 14th April 2025, the natal anniversary of Dr. Bhimrao Ramji Ambedkar – the venerated luminary behind the drafting of the Indian Constitution and an eminent social reformer – was observed with great solemnity. The students of Grade 7 Omega undertook the mantle of orchestrating an evocative and intellectually invigorating assembly in honor of this iconic leader. Through their eloquent speeches and perspicacious reflections, the students conveyed a compelling message: that Dr. Ambedkar's legacy serves as an enduring reminder to uphold the sanctity of the Constitution and strive relentlessly towards the progress and upliftment of our nation.

Pause. Reflect. Evolve.

In the silence of self-talk,
we find the answers to life's questions.

How often do we engage in meaningful self-reflection? Do we take the time to evaluate our actions at the end of each day? Do we pause to understand the reasons behind our mistakes when things go wrong? And when we are to blame, do we question ourselves about the root causes? Unfortunately, most of us rarely answer these questions affirmatively, as we tend to dismiss our failures without extracting any valuable lessons. However, the students of 6 Delta beautifully shed light on this very issue. They highlighted that engaging in polite, constructive self-talk can bring about the positive change we seek. Through their insightful speech, it was clear that life's challenges do not require external help to alleviate our burdens. Instead, a simple shift towards a positive, reflective mindset can help us navigate both our internal struggles and the complexities of the outside world.

Drawing Competition

Children bloom when given a reason to express their inner worlds. The news of the Drawing Competition fluttered through the school like a breeze, awakening curiosity and inviting young minds to speak through color. Their brushes told stories—not just of imagination, but of a greener, kinder future. A few glimpses from their canvas-born dreams...

On the canvas of imagination, our students paint a greener tomorrow
—where nature thrives and dreams take root.

Future in Frames

There's a rare poignancy in witnessing youthful souls shoulder responsibilities that often elude seasoned hands. In their tender, unassuming way, the little learners of Grades K1 and K2 stepped into the quiet rhythm of stewardship, embracing the vision of a verdant, unblemished Earth. What unfolded was more than a mere activity—it was an unspoken pact with the planet. Under the tender gaze of their mentors, tiny hands nestled saplings into the welcoming soil, not just initiating growth, but silently composing a hymn of purity, care, and nascent promise. Though unaware of the full gravity of their gestures, the children's gleaming eyes reflected an instinctive joy—one that comes only from giving life, not for praise, but for love's own sake.

As inquisitive minds blossomed in tandem with their green companions, the air vibrated with curious musings—"How soon will it give us shade?", "Will it grow tall like us?", "Does it feel happy?" These questions, blooming from unfiltered wonder, became quiet metaphors for growth itself. With unhurried grace, their teachers responded—nurturing both the flora and the fragile roots of understanding in young minds. In those gentle exchanges, the day's endeavor transcended its temporal nature, maturing into an emblem of silent transformation. It wasn't merely a planting drive; it became a seedling of remembrance, a tableau of innocence meeting intention. One day, when these trees stretch skyward, cloaking the earth in cool shade, those once-small gardeners may recall how they nurtured not just branches, but the very beginnings of lasting change.

Through crayons, colors, and creativity, young minds echo a powerful message—protect, preserve, and cherish our planet.
