MAY 2025

EDULETICS INTERNATIONAL A BRITISH SCHOOL

Message from Principal

Dear Readers

As the second month gently recedes into the folds of time, life, in its quiet wisdom, whispers an eternal verity — that time is not merely fleeting, but sacred. Each breath, each heartbeat, is a syllable in the unspoken poem of our existence, urging us to live with purpose before moments dissolve into the hush of memory. In this reflective breath, we offer heartfelt gratitude for your unflinching support in your ward's educational journey. Your seamless adaptation to our evolving digital framework has not only ensured a smooth online examination process but has also become the silent force sustaining the rhythm of our shared pursuit of excellence.

With the echoes of the Pre Mid-Term examinations gently settling, we take this moment to celebrate the diligence and drive exhibited by our young minds—many of whom have soared with shining colours. For those whose performance didn't yet meet the mark and find themselves beneath the 50% threshold, this is not a setback, but a turning point. At our institution, we see untapped brilliance in every learner and believe that even the dimmest ember, with care and consistency, can ignite into flame. To those needing a firmer foothold, the school is poised to extend every scaffold of support. With planned interventions and a strong belief in every child's ability, we aim to turn challenges into opportunities for growth, so every parent can see real improvement in their child's learning.

At the heart of all we do, lies a shared responsibility—to awaken in the younger generation a deep sense of humanity and reverence for every hand that quietly shapes their world. Labour Day offered us a meaningful canvas to help our students recognise the silent strength and unfaltering devotion of our support staff—those who keep the wheels of learning turning, often without applause. Just a single word of gratitude, when spoken with sincerity, leaves an imprint far deeper than grand gestures ever could. What fills us with quiet joy is knowing that our learners carry within them an innate gentleness, a rare sensitivity that the world so dearly needs. And this empathy, this graceful awareness, is not born in isolation—it is the sweetest harvest of values sown in the rich soil of homes where kindness is not taught, but lived.

Amidst everything we pour into shaping our students' growth, there remains one guiding star — their joy and contentment, which alone gives purpose to every effort, we make. This academic year, one radiant milestone glowed brighter than the rest — the laureled culmination of EBS's very first Summer Camp.

What unfolded over those three days was nothing short of a reverie brought to life — laughter echoing through corridors, friendships blooming like midsummer wildflowers, and memories etched into the soft fabric of time. The joy was not theirs alone; the entire EBS family found themselves spellbound, watching young hearts soak in unfiltered happiness beneath gold-drenched skies.

And then, as quietly as a sigh, the camp drew its curtain — leaving behind a hush that whispered the arrival of another awaited chapter: the summer break.

As our students now step into this season of pause, we hope they find themselves cocooned in moments of renewal — basking in the warmth of kinship, replenishing their spirits beneath shaded afternoons and collecting sunlit snapshots of togetherness. May this interlude be a gallery of irreplaceable memories — vivid, vibrant and timeless.

Enjoy a meaningful and memorable read.

Across the world, May 1st is observed as Labour Day – a day that echoes the spirit of dignity, resilience, and the relentless pursuit of justice by the global workforce. At the very heart of every thriving institution stand its most devoted custodians – the labourers – whose tireless efforts form the unseen foundation upon which comfort, order, and growth are built.

Often unnoticed in moments of ease, their presence becomes deeply apparent when absent. It is only then that we truly grasp the silent strength they lend to our daily lives. Their contributions do not merely support our comfort; they define it. Their hands bring to life the beauty our eyes long to behold and their steadfast service clears the path so others may walk ahead without hesitation.

To honour the immeasurable value these noble individuals add to our school community, our students came together to present a heartfelt tribute. Through stirring speeches and evocative dialogues, they highlighted the dignity of labour, while a soul-touching group song resonated like a gentle yet powerful ode – inspiring these everyday heroes to carry forward their roles with even more pride and purpose.

Please take a glimpse into our celebration – a moment of gratitude, a gesture of deep respect.

LABOUR DAY

"A nation rises not by power alone, but by the silent strength of those who labour behind the scenes."

"True dignity lies not in titles,
but in toil — for it is labour
that breathes life into dreams."

Pre Mid-Term Examination

Grace Meets Grit..

The beginning of a new school year is nothing short of a celebration. As the academic session unfolds, our students immerse themselves in setting everything in perfect order—be it arranging their fresh textbooks and notebooks, organizing school bags or donning neatly pressed uniforms. There's a sense of purpose in their every action as if each step towards the classroom is a step into a world of wonder and imagination.

All seems to flow smoothly until the first academic challenge appears—the Pre Mid Term examination. It arrives just as the first month concludes, standing like a gatekeeper before the joys of the approaching summer break. Yet, our students do not waver. Having grown familiar with this rhythm over the years, they greet it with quiet assurance rather than fear.

What truly deserves admiration is the resolute confidence etched across every face—whether a returning student or a new entrant. United in spirit and steady in resolve, they approached the exams with grace and emerged with pride.

Their strength lies not only in knowledge but in the composure with which they carry it. And that, for us, is the real success.

“They do not fear the test,
for they have mastered
the art of facing
it with grace.”

Happy Mother's Day

*Her silence speaks,
her smile heals,
her love never asks,
only gives.*

There exists a love on this Earth that defies words — a love so deep and soul-rooted, it surpasses expression. It is the love a mother holds for her children and the quiet yet powerful reflection of that love in their hearts. No words can capture her silent sacrifices, unseen struggles, boundless tenderness and relentless devotion, wrapped around her children like a second skin.

A mother does not count; she simply gives — time, strength, sleep and soul — guided only by an inner compass pointing to her child's well-being. She braves storms barefoot to offer her child a piece of sunshine.

To honour this unmatched grace, the students of EBS shared heartfelt messages for their mothers. Each message, unique in tone, carried the same wish — for their mothers to live long, smile often and shine endlessly. Behind every word was a silent vow: that today's struggles will bloom into the pride of seeing their children rise meaningfully in life.

As a school community, let us join in prayer — that every mother's heart remains light, her smile bright and her days filled with the golden warmth of love.

JAVELIN

Bold Beginnings

Ever since Neeraj Chopra etched his legacy in Olympic history with a masterstroke in javelin, the sport has ignited a spark in the hearts of aspiring youth. The summer camp became a canvas for this inspiration, where the inclusion of javelin in the roster of activities unearthed young enthusiasts drawn to its spirit. With only a brief initiation into its technique, the students managed to grasp the spear with surprising grace. Though finesse and accuracy were yet to be honed, their unsteady strides carried adamant resolve, as they raced forward – not merely to throw, but to elevate the very essence of perseverance.

A few glimpses from this spirited pursuit:

In the arc of a javelin's flight, rose stories of
grit and quiet might.

SHOOTING

Unveiling the marksman within!

Perfection is a pursuit inscribed into every heart — be it the batsman eyeing a boundary or the basketball player aiming for a flawless throw. Each soul aspires to strike the mark in a single, decisive attempt. Such was the fervour witnessed among our budding sharpshooters, their eyes gleaming with focus, their spirits brimming with resolve.

In the stillness between breath and trigger,
a young marksman
discovers the power of intent.

The sheer thrill of gripping the airsoft gun eclipsed its weight, transforming it into a symbol of precision and power. This enthralling activity captivated all, offering each participant a rare moment of self-discovery – to unveil the marksman within and measure the depth of their aim.

SNIPING

ARCHERY

Legacy Reloaded

Once revered as an essential skill of every warrior, archery has gracefully transitioned from battlefield mastery to a captivating pursuit of dexterity and focus. Though the era of self-defence through the bow has long faded, the timeless allure of archery continues to enchant modern minds. The summer camp bore witness to this fascination, as students stepped into the shoes of ancient archers – eager to explore the elegance of the draw and the thrill of the release. With each arrow loosed, some brushed near the mark, while others drew steadily closer. Stripped of its ancient risks but not its reverence, the three-day session proved to be a rewarding journey – not just of learning a sport, but of awakening a skill steeped in history and grace.

They didn't just aim — they challenged the air itself.

T-SHIRT PAINTING Art Unleashed

From hidden hearts
the colors rise,
painting hope
beneath the skies.

One of the most profound sanctuaries from the relentless tides of stress and anxiety is the immersive art of painting. Every individual harbors an artist within — a latent virtuoso waiting patiently to manifest their vision upon the canvas of life. At our summer camp, we gifted our children the chance to breathe life into this hidden artistry, transforming blank t-shirts into vibrant mirrors of their dreams and imagination. With strokes both bold and delicate, the students unveiled their inner worlds, adorning the empty fabric with wondrous designs. The joy and creative exuberance they unleashed outshine mere description. Here are a few glimpses into their colorful journeys.

FACE PAINTING

Still faces, vivid dreams

Have you ever wondered—if not a human, what else might you have been? While such a thought may rarely cross our minds, our students embraced it with instinctive imagination. Without a moment's hesitation, they eagerly voiced the characters they wished to become through the art of face painting.

What followed was a quiet display of grace and creativity. With remarkable stillness, the students allowed their teachers to transform them into living portraits. More than just painted faces, they subtly embodied the essence of their chosen characters—through expressions, gestures, and an almost instinctive connection that brought each role to life.

A palette of dreams stood side by side,
each face a story, each smile a spark.

MADHUBANI & POT PAINTING

Cultural Echoes

Golden were the days when traditional art forms held the world in their quiet spell—and more golden still are the hearts that strive to preserve their legacy. It is not merely the charm of these ancient expressions, but the indefectible spirit of those who keep them alive by lending them eternal grace. In an earnest attempt to nurture this connection to our cultural roots, we encouraged our students to immerse themselves in the delicate beauty of Madhubani and pot painting.

With brushes poised like echoes of tradition, the young artists poured quiet devotion onto canvas—each stroke a tribute to heritage. Their intent gaze and delicate touch revived the essence of a timeless art. It was a simple yet stirring sight—a reminder that art endures in those who hold it dear.

From canvas bright to earthy pot,
They painted dreams
that time forgot.

Arts & Crafts

Born to Create, Destined to Inspire

How marvellous it is to realise that every individual in this world is born with an innate spark of talent – unique in form, yet united by a shared zeal to uncover its true essence. While the thrill of outdoor adventures enchanted the hearts of many, it was the indoor activities that quietly cast a spell, capturing every gaze with their sublime tranquillity. Among these, the Art and Craft segment emerged as a soul-stirring highlight of the summer camp – a sanctuary where creativity blossomed in silence. The ambiance it created was ethereal, drenched in serenity, as if time itself had paused to admire the artistry unfolding. Each young artist, deeply immersed in their canvas, appeared as though they were born to create – painting dreams with strokes of imagination, weaving emotions into vibrant hues, and breathing life into every masterpiece with a divine rhythm of colours.

"In every stroke
lies a story,
in every colour,
a dream waiting to bloom."

COOKING WITHOUT FIRE

Flame-Free Feats

No labels bound their silent art,
Each dish they made came from the heart.

COOKING WITHOUT FIRE

Today's generation is gently, yet firmly, unearthing the long-standing roots of stereotypes. Once considered a domain confined to a single section of society, cooking has now become an open canvas of expression for all. It is heartening to witness the youth pursue their interests freely, unshackled by outdated conventions.

During the summer camp, the Cooking Without Fire activity was met with remarkable zeal. Students arrived with carefully chosen ingredients and quiet determination, ready to craft their culinary creations. With thoughtful hands and eager hearts, they assembled dishes that reflected not only taste but ardour and creativity. It was more than an activity—it was a quiet celebration of breaking norms and embracing individuality.

With ladles high
and spirits bright,
They served their dreams in every bite.

A TRIP FROM EDULETICS TO MONGINIS

Hands-On Harmony

Among the many moments that graced our summer camp, the visit to Monginis' factory shimmered brightest—a rare and treasured privilege gifted to our Grade 8 and 9 students. Within those walls, the humble art of cake-making unfolded like a carefully choreographed symphony, each step revealing the delicate dance between craft and creativity.

The true magic blossomed when the students themselves became the maestros, guided gently by expert hands, blending ingredients and shaping their creations with quiet reverence. From the soft whisper of the batter to the final flourish of decoration, every gesture sang of wonder and discovery.

Yet, it was not only the craft that touched their hearts, but the warmth of gracious hospitality—unexpected surprises that wrapped the experience in tenderness and joy.

As the visit drew to a close, it became more than a mere outing—it was a crescendo, the perfect epilogue to three days of growth and learning. Emerging with their handcrafted cakes cradled gently, the students carried more than just sweet parcels—they bore the radiant confidence of having woven their own dreams into reality, achieving what once seemed beyond reach.

Crafting with intention transforms simple moments into lasting memories.

MAGIC SHOW

"When reality pauses, magic begins
— turning moments into mesmerising memories."

Engaging every student by nurturing their passions is often effortless; yet, the true challenge lies in crafting experiences that spark genuine excitement and wonder. To weave such enchantment, we curated a magical performance—an oasis of awe amid the flurry of outdoor pursuits. The auditorium brimmed with eager faces, each student drawn by the promise of marvels yet unseen.

It was nearly impossible to contain their excitement—their eyes widened, their smiles grew, and their voices hushed in amazement. Every trick performed felt like a moment of pure magic, holding their attention like a spell. What truly touched us was their quiet admiration and the way they sat, completely engrossed, as if they didn't want the wonder to end. Their joy was simple, honest, and deeply felt—a reminder of how beautifully children embrace the unexpected.

"Every trick was a spark,
every illusion a doorway
to imagination."

EBS EXTEMPORE

From Podiums to Perspectives

Days and years go by fulfilling duties close to our hearts. Yet, it is the rare moments of closeness—where we pause, listen and reflect together—that bring a quiet spark to our spirits. One such moment unfolded during the Extempore Activity, where all our teachers gathered not just as professionals, but as people with voices waiting to be heard. This activity, far from routine, felt like a sigh of pause—a gentle shift from the regular to the real. One by one, as they stepped onto the stage, facing spontaneous questions, their responses revealed more than opinions—they revealed their inner compass. Thoughts came not rehearsed, but raw and resonant.

What was more beautiful was the way others received those thoughts—with warmth, with grace. For three days, this hour-long exchange became a small ritual of renewal. It changed how we saw one another—not as roles, but as reflections of sincerity, thought and truth.

“When minds speak without scripts, hearts begin to listen more closely.”
