August 2026

"Great achievements are woven from patience, practice and purpose."

Principal's Desk

Dear Readers
Greetings!

"Some months pass like pages turning; others leave an imprint on the very spirit of a school. August has been one such month for us."

August arrived with the unmistakable cadence of patriotism, purpose and youthful exuberance. The corridors of our school resonated not merely with rehearsals and preparations, but with a growing sense of anticipation, a quiet transformation taking place as our students prepared to step beyond the familiar confines of their classrooms and into the limelight.

Our Independence Day celebrations on 15th August became a particularly memorable manifestation of this spirit. Students across grades came forward to present a rich spectrum of English language activities, including poetry recitation, storytelling, narration, speeches and debate. What was especially heartening was not simply the variety of presentations, but the assurance with which our young learners occupied the stage. They spoke, recited, narrated and articulated their thoughts with a confidence that reflected sincere preparation and the unrelenting encouragement of their teachers. Their preparation was evident and their enthusiasm commendable. At the same time, the maturity with which they shape and articulate their thoughts is an area that will continue to evolve. With sustained reading, reflection and the collective guidance of teachers and parents, we are confident that their expression will become increasingly refined, nuanced and purposeful.

The stage, after all, is more than a place for performance. It is a crucible in which confidence is tempered, thought acquires articulation and personality finds its voice. Every presentation, every hesitation overcome and every applause received contributes to the making of a more self-assured learner.

As August drew towards its close, our students entered another significant academic phase with the commencement of their Mid Term Examinations. This period provides them with an opportunity to reflect on their learning, recognise their strengths and identify areas that require greater attention. As we gradually move towards the post Mid Term phase, we look forward to a renewed sense of purpose, where each student can build upon the learning of the first half of the term and approach the coming weeks with greater clarity, discipline and enthusiasm.

August has reminded us that a school is truly alive when its classrooms nurture thought, its stages nurture courage and its examinations nurture perseverance.

As we move into the post Mid Term phase, may our students continue to grow, not merely in what they know, but in how they think, how they speak, how they listen and how they carry themselves.

Let every new month refine the learner, strengthen the character and illuminate the path ahead.

Warm wishes for a purposeful and enriching month ahead!

With regards

Team EBS

Together We Rise

The Independence Day celebration was not merely a presentation on stage; it was the culmination of days of assiduous practice, sincere commitment and collective endeavour. Our students stepped beyond the familiar rhythm of their classrooms to immerse themselves in rehearsals, learning every movement, every note, every expression and every cue with remarkable diligence. They listened, adapted, coordinated and refined their performances under the guidance of their instructors, often returning to the same practice with renewed energy. Behind the poise of every performer lay countless hours of preparation, patience and perseverance, making the final presentation a true reflection of their discipline and determination.

What made their accomplishment even more meaningful was their ability to maintain an equally strong commitment to their academics. After rehearsals, they returned to their classrooms, gathered the lessons and assignments they had missed and worked to remain at par with their peers. This quiet balancing act revealed something far more valuable than performance skills: it reflected maturity, accountability, adaptability and an admirable work ethic. The brilliance witnessed on stage was therefore not accidental; it was shaped by students who learnt to honour both their responsibilities, giving their best to the celebration while remaining committed to their academic journey.

"Excellence is born when dedication becomes a habit."

"Behind every remarkable performance lies an unseen story of perseverance."

*"Talent may begin the journey,
but dedication carries it forward."*

*"When commitment meets discipline,
ordinary moments become extraordinary memories."*

*"The beauty
of achievement lies
not only in the applause,
but in the effort that precedes it."*

"Teamwork transforms individual effort into collective achievement."

*"True success is giving your best,
even when no one is watching."*

Mid-Term Academic Activity

The Art of Expression!

Amid the demanding rhythm of the academic term, our students across grades embraced every opportunity to step beyond the classroom and discover the power of expression. Storytelling, role play, speech, debate and extempore competitions became vibrant platforms where ideas found a voice and confidence found its stage. Preparing scripts, rehearsing repeatedly, refining pronunciation, mastering voice modulation and learning the nuances of articulation and gesture required remarkable perseverance. Each participant invested time and energy in polishing not just a performance, but an essential life skill: the ability to communicate with clarity, conviction and composure. Their willingness to step into the spotlight, even during a month leading up to the midterm examinations, speaks volumes about their enthusiasm, discipline and determination to grow.

The performances reflected an inspiring spectrum of talent, with students demonstrating poise, eloquence, spontaneity and expressive finesse. While some displayed an instinctive command of the stage, others are continuing to discover their own rhythm, refine their delivery and develop greater confidence with every opportunity. That, too, is an important part of the journey. Every rehearsal, every pause, every gesture and every spoken word adds another layer to their development. What truly deserves appreciation is their courage to participate, their readiness to learn and their willingness to keep refining their craft. With continued practice and encouragement, these young voices will grow into articulate, assured and thoughtful communicators.

"The art of communication is the language of leadership."

"A confident voice can turn an idea into an inspiration."

"A good speaker informs;

a great speaker connects."

Words become powerful

when spoken with purpose."

"Practice gives talent the polish that makes it shine."

Mid-Term Examination

Adapt & Achieve

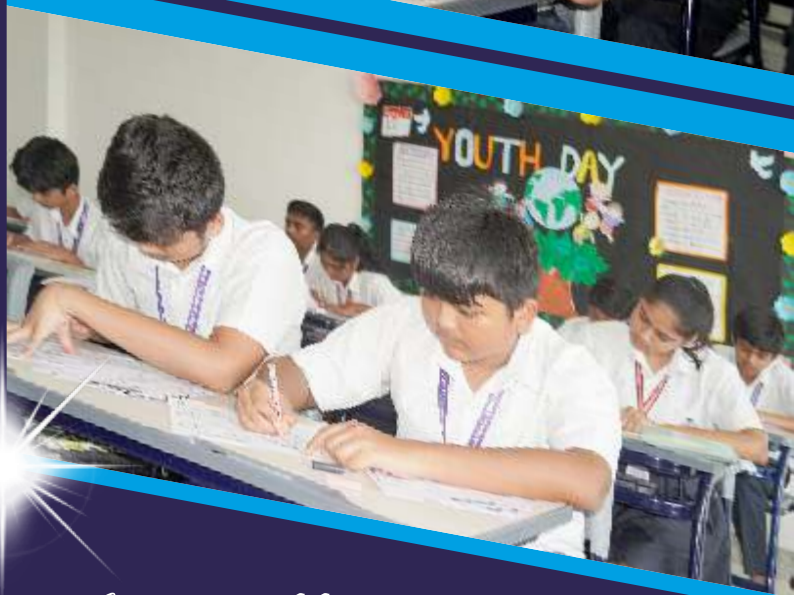

The month brought with it a seamless shift from the vibrant preparations for Independence Day to the focused rhythm of academic life. Within a short span, our students moved from rehearsals, celebrations and collaborative activities to the final preparations for their midterm examinations. This transition reflects their remarkable adaptability and their ability to approach each responsibility with renewed focus and composure.

Such moments teach students that life is a continual movement from one responsibility to another, each demanding a different kind of preparation and mindset. Their ability to embrace these changes with confidence and continuity reflects a growing sense of maturity, resilience and self-discipline. As they move forward, they are not merely preparing for examinations, but gradually learning the invaluable art of navigating change with grace and purpose.

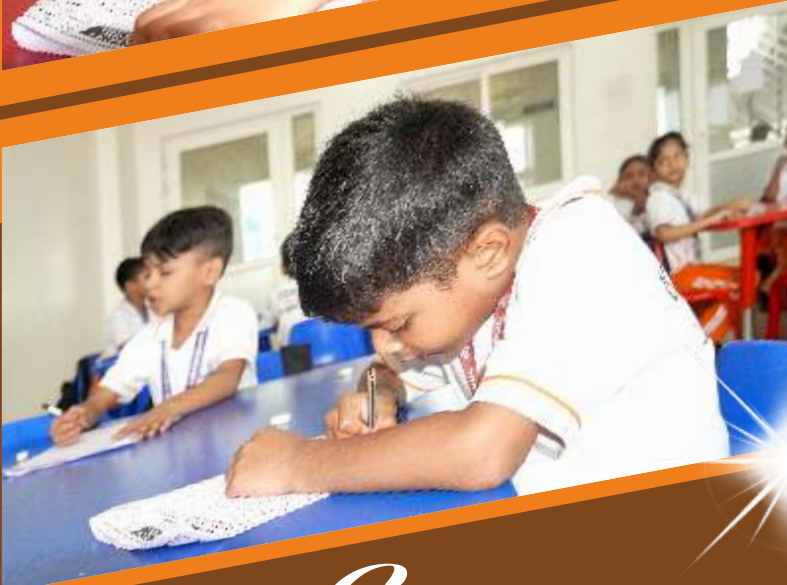

“Change is the only constant in life.”

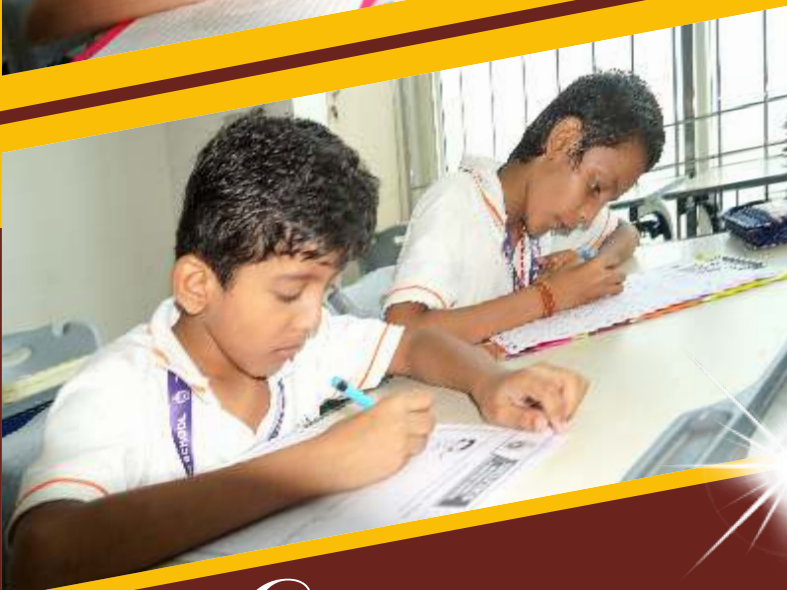

"The measure of intelligence is the ability to change."

"Growth begins when we embrace what comes next."

"Life is a journey of transitions, each shaping who we become."

The SOF Certificate and Medal Distribution was a proud occasion as students from Grades 1 to 10 were recognised for their participation and achievement in the Olympiad examinations. Their certificates and medals represent the effort they put into preparing themselves, applying their knowledge and taking up the challenge beyond their regular classroom learning. Each achievement reflects a willingness to learn, practise and improve. The occasion gave us an opportunity to appreciate our students' sincere efforts and encourage them to continue their journey of learning with confidence and curiosity.
